A consumer-like experience for employees

This consumer goods company's 400 brands are used by over 2.5 billion people a day.

The client wanted to create a new digital employee experience that was more like their experience as consumers – more mobile, more personalized, more engaging.

Avanade created and implemented a new digital employee experience leveraging Microsoft SharePoint Online and Akumina which includes personalized corporate communications, integration with their Learning Management System, business function sites, division sites, video content, communities, events, personalized most common tasks, news feeds, blogs, people finder, etc. Avanade provided change enablement services to launch the new experience to over 150,000 employees.

This project was delivered in phases with the first release for champions feedback occurring in two months and the production release four months after that.

The portal received great feedback from employees as it helped improve access to employees on tools and references that made them more efficient at their work.
