

Multinational Oil & Gas Company

An improved content-driven employee experience delivered to employees where and when needed.

150 licenses across 25 countries with 67 active oil fields

The organization wanted to overcome collaboration and communication gaps within their globally dispersed and remote workforce. They needed a way to simply deliver important information, while giving access to employees regardless of location or device.

Avanade & Akumina helped create an engaging, user-centric employee experience to deliver content to the right audience at the right time across multiple devices. Phase one provided native integrations with Microsoft Office 365, and phase two progressed toward adding integrations with other business critical systems outside of Office 365 that improved worker productivity.

The Corporate Communications team can now manage both content and site experience – creating new pages, tasks that were previously relegated to IT when the organization used SharePoint out of the box. This significant change has freed up the IT team to focus on strategic initiatives.

Some key functionality in the new implementation includes:

- Native mobile app, accessible anywhere and on any device
- Access to critical safety data, training, updates, etc.
- Centralized access, UI, and task management for Office 365 and non-Microsoft applications
